

RAG Introduction

Retrieval-Augmented Generation (RAG) combines information retrieval with text generation.

First, relevant documents are retrieved using embeddings and a vector index.

Then, the retrieved context is provided to a language model to generate an answer grounded in the documents.